

Dominion Registries - Reserved Names Dispute Resolution Policy

This Reserved Names Dispute Resolution Policy (the "RNDRP") is incorporated by reference into the registration agreement for each domain name registered in a Dominion Registries' top-level domain ("TLD") and all applicants for reserve list names agree to be bound by this policy. This RNDRP shall become effective as of the date of the first non-self-allocation of a domain name. This RNDRP may be invoked by filing a complaint with the National Arbitration Forum as set forth herein.

1. Purpose

Article 2.6 of Dominion Registries' contract with ICANN authorizes it to establish or modify, at any time, this RNDRP concerning reservation or blocking of strings within the registry at Dominion Registries' discretion. Dominion Registries is also required pursuant to Specifications 5 and 6 of its Registry contract with ICANN to reserve or block certain strings from registration or allocation.

This RNDRP has been created to provide a procedure for intellectual property rights owners to seek the allocation of certain names reserved by Dominion Registries and to challenge certain proposals for allocation of reserved names. This RNDRP describes standards that will be applied to resolve all challenges to the reservation, and/or proposed release from reservation, of reserved names.

2. Applicable Disputes

A reserved name in the TLD will be subject to an administrative proceeding upon submission of a complaint by a third party (the "Requestor") showing by a preponderance of the evidence that the reserved name should be allocated to the Requestor or that another party's application for release of a reserved name was improper. Any such challenge is to be filed with the National Arbitration Forum (the "RNDRP Provider") and is to be decided by a Panel appointed by the RNDRP Provider (the "Panel").

A. Requests for Allocation from the Reserve List

Requests for allocation of reserved names may be filed in writing with the RNDRP Provider pursuant to this paragraph (an "Allocation Request") if the Requestor meets all eligibility criteria for registration of the reserved name and the reserved name in question is identical to the textual elements of a trademark owned and used by the Requestor that is:

- (i) protectable under applicable law;
- (ii) subject to an active, valid national registration that was owned by Requestor and issued prior to June 13, 2012;
- (iii) subject to a recorded and validated registration with the ICANN Trademark Clearinghouse that was obtained by the Requestor prior to the close of the Sunrise Registration period for the TLD;
- (iv) eligible for registration during the Sunrise Registration period for the TLD; and
- (v) subject of an unsuccessful attempt by the Requestor or its agent to obtain a registration during the Sunrise Registration period for the TLD.

B. Challenge to a Reserved Name RFP Submission

Dominion Registries may elect, in its discretion, to accept proposals for allocation of certain reserved names based upon the proposed use of the names in accordance with terms of one or more Requests For Proposal (RFPs) that will be published by the Registry. When submitting a response to any such RFP (an "Applicant Proposal"), the Applicant must represent and warrant that (1) the statements made in the Applicant Proposal are complete and accurate; (2) to the Applicant's knowledge, the registration of the domain name will not infringe upon or otherwise violate the rights of any third party; (3) the Applicant is not applying to register the domain name for an unlawful purpose; and (4) the Applicant will not knowingly use the domain name in violation of any applicable laws or regulations.

Upon Registry's publication of an RFP regarding potential allocation of a reserved name, Registry will specify a time period for submission of any Applicant Proposal and will specify a time period (the "Challenge Period") for submission to the RNDRP Provider of any challenges (a "Proposal Challenge") to an Applicant Proposal. A Proposal Challenge may be filed in writing with the RNDRP Provider pursuant to this paragraph if:

- (i) the reserved name in question is identical or confusingly similar to a trademark or service mark in which the Requestor has rights; and
- (ii) the Applicant has no rights or legitimate interests in respect to the reserved name; and
- (iii) the Applicant has applied for allocation of the reserved name in bad faith.

3. Evidence in Relation to an Allocation Request or Proposal Challenge

A. Allocation Requests

For the purpose of seeking allocation of a reserved name pursuant to Paragraph 2(a) of this RNDRP, the Requestor shall submit:

- (i) documentary evidence establishing the Requestor's eligibility for a domain name during the Sunrise Registration period for the TLD in accordance with the Dominion Registries Registration Policy;
- (ii) an SMD file from the ICANN Trademark Clearinghouse, including information identifying the date of issuance of the SMD file, for the relevant trademark or service mark;
- (iii) current status and title information for the national trademark or service mark registration associated with the SMD file including information identifying the date of issuance of the registration;
- (iv) a current specimen of use demonstrating the Requestor's current use of the relevant trademark or service mark; and
- (v) documentary evidence identifying Requestor's unsuccessful attempt to obtain a registration during the Sunrise Registration period for the TLD.

B. Proposal Challenges

For the purpose of challenging an Applicant Proposal pursuant to Paragraph 2(b) of this RNDRP, the following circumstances, in particular but without limitation, shall be evidence of a bad faith Applicant Proposal:

- (i) circumstances indicating that the Applicant has applied for the domain name primarily for the purpose of selling, renting, or otherwise transferring the domain name registration to the Requestor who is the owner of a corresponding trademark or service mark, or to a competitor of that Requestor, for valuable consideration in excess of documented out-of-pocket costs directly related to the domain name;
- (ii) circumstances indicating that the Applicant has applied for the domain name in order to prevent the owner of the trademark or service mark from reflecting the mark in a corresponding domain name, provided that the Applicant has engaged in a pattern of such conduct;
- (iii) circumstances indicating that the Applicant has applied for the domain name primarily for the purpose of disrupting the business of a competitor; or
- (iv) circumstances indicating that the Applicant intends to attract, for commercial gain, Internet users to a website or other online location, by creating a likelihood of confusion with the Requestor's mark as to the source, sponsorship, affiliation, or endorsement of the website or other online location or as to a product or service on the website or other online location.

C. Responding to a Proposal Challenge

The following circumstances, in particular but without limitation, shall be evidence of an Applicant's rights or legitimate interests to a reserved name for purposes of Paragraph 2(b) of this RNDRP:

- (i) evidence of the Applicant's use of, or demonstrable preparations to use, the domain name or a name corresponding to the domain name in connection with a bona fide offering of goods or services or a bona fide provision of information in a way that does not interfere with the legitimate exercise by third parties of their trademark or service mark rights; or
- (ii) evidence of the type identified in Paragraph 3(a).
